A Reasonable Plea For The Stomach

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food falls to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion, and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad, and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's slop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Templo Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended. (Signed) John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

Custodian Stewart Writes That This Affords Only Quarters Available.

PAY FOR TEXAS BOILERS

House Committee Virtually Decides to Report Favorably the Bill for $11,000.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 2.—
The next appropriation bill which passes the house probably will contain an item of $20,000 for the rental of temporary quarters for the Richmond post-office and the other government offices in the public building, which will be razed soon to make way for the new structure. Secretary Shaw has sent to the Speaker of the house a recommendation that this amount be appropriated. Accompanying his letter of recommendat is so see from Joseph B. Stewart, curfodian of the public building at Richmend, saying that about the only available quarters for the government force is the Bijou Theatre, at Eighth and Broad Streets.
Mr. Stewart said in his letter that the rental of the building would be $5,250 a year. The cost of moving and furnishing the quarters he thought might reach $7,500.

Representative Lamb is still regretting that the post-office was not lacoted on Broad Street, instead of on the old site. He said to-day that had the provision of his first bill that the selection of the site be left to the Secretary of the Treasury been adopted, an up-to-date building on Broad Street would be completed. But recognizing that the site had been fixed, Captain Lamb is urging the appropriation of $20,000 for the temporary quarters on Broad Street.

Captain Lamb's Wishes

Captain Lamb's Wishes.

"The post-office will be on Broad Street for four years," said Captain Lamb to-day, "and then back to Main Street. We will have marched up the hill and then down again. All this inconvenience and delay could have been obviated had the usual course in such proceedings been obtained. This have been added. the usual course in such proceedings been obtained. This business should have been left to the district's representative in Congress. In the usual course of business it will take four years to construct the new building. It will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 a year for temporary quarters for the post-office and courts, and revenue office and marshal's office, and this does not include cost of furnishings and moving two-ways. The present site is in nowise suited. It will be impossible to bring out a fite architectural effect with a building located as this will be, with the rear portion below grade, on account of which it will also be impossible to secure proper light and ventilation.

"With the rental for temporary quarters and incidental expenses," said Captian Lamb, "it is believed a new and better site could be purchased, If you add the sum indicated to the price which could be obtained for the Shafer property, there is no question that a which better site than the present one could be obtained."

It would look from this as though some effort might be made in the future. sual course in such proceedings obtained. This business should obtained."

It would look from this as though some effort might be made in the future to secure a location for the public building on Broad Street, but this would now be impossible. The change would have to be authorized by Congress.

Pay Locomotive Works.

The House Committee on Claims virtually decided to-day to report favorably the bill introduced by Representative Lamb, appropriating $11,000 due the Richmond Locomotive Works for the Richmond Locomotive Works for the sconstruction of the boilers of the battle-ship Texas. The first year Captain Lamb served in Congress he secured the passage of a bill paying the Locomotive Works a claim of $59,00. It was claimed that $50,000 was due, and it was, expressly stipulated that acceptance of the $59,000 should not be regarded as walver of claim to the $11,000. The bill will probably be favorably reported, but it has to take chances of getting through the House and the Senate, with only about thirty days of the session remaining. The old Texas is about to be sent to the scrap-heap, obsolete and more or less worn out, but Uncle Sam is still higgling over the bill for her construction.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., February 2.—Guy Rowe, a Southern Railway engineer, was last night probably fatally injured as the result of an encounter with two negroes at the railway round-house, in the Ashoville yards. The negroes—two brothers, named Hoke and Henry Hill—are locked up at police headquarters, after being rescued by the police from an infuriated erowd of railway men, who were fully determined upon lynching them.

The trouble at the round-house is said to have originated over a dispute between Engineer Rowe and one of the negroes, when the latter was reprimanded by the engineer for net performing his work properly, and neglecting to put some of the necessary equipment on the engine. Both nergoes made a victous attack on the engineer, during which one of them hit Rowe a heavy blow out the back of the bad with a large iron bar, inflicting a severe wound, and it is thought his skull is fractured. The negroes then fled, pursued by a large number of railroad men. The negroes sught refuge in a restaurant on Depot Street. The place was all-most immediately surrounded by an infuriated crowd, determined to lynch the negroes as soon as they could be dislodged.

In the meantime a call had been sent in to police headquarters, and the patrol swagon, with a squad of officers, was at once rushed to the scene. The police with much difficulty dispersed the crowd, dragged the negroes from the louse, hustled them into the patrol wagon, and quickly had them safe behind the bars Excitement has now subsided, and fur-ther trouble is not expected.
